

Maujuda* the anticipated album from Punjabi-Australian artist Parvyn out now!
+ OzAsia Festival album launch
+ Announces Sydney Festival performance in 2025

Meaning 'to be present, current, or existing', Maujuda is the anticipated album from Punjabi-Australian artist Parvyn, out now on all platforms and explores her personal family history of migration from India to Australia via Malaysia and the UK, touching on themes of love, relationships, and belonging. In celebration of the release, Parvyn and her band will be launching the album at the OzAsia Festival in Adelaide on Friday 8 November, and have announced their appearance at Sydney Festival 2025 on Friday 17 January at ACO on the Pier.

Out via Gaga, Maujuda was recorded in Vancouver at Afterlife Studios and Capsule Studios, with Erik P.H.Nielsen (City and Colour) on engineer duties, produced by Jane Aurora and Mary Ancheta (MaryJane HiFi), and mastered by Elisa Pasaeng. Centred around finding one's path in life, the 7 tracks explore different stories and perspectives in discovery and acceptance, opening with the first single and self love anthem 'Free To Be Myself'. Touching on the complexities of migrating to a new place, feature track 'Lay Awake' is told through the story of her grandmother 'bebeji', with commentary on 'how migrants sometimes hold on to their culture so tightly that it can cause a rift between generations, not realising that back in their homeland it has progressed and modernised' describes Parvyn. The material includes moments of introspection in the new singles 'New Game', and 'Divine', woven between instrumental improvisation from Parvyn's husband Josh Bennett on electric guitar, and lyrics in Urdu/Punjabi in 'Huna Lai Jio' as the track touches on the importance of community and finding your people, and ending the musical voyage at album closer 'Back to the Ocean'.

'As an artist, I want to do whatever I can to make this world a better place and contribute positively to humanity. I hope this record brings solace and connection to as many people as possible.' - Parvyn

Best known for her work in Bollywood inspired psychedelic rock band The Bombay Royale, Parvyn has been touring globally since childhood with her father Dya Singh. Immersed in a reflective world of different cultures and perspectives, her solo project presents her blend of genre-drifting flow state pop and classical Indian raga melodies. She first debuted with live performances at Womadelaide, Mona Foma, Woodford Folk Festival, Darwin Festival, OzAsia Festival, and more. Her debut album 'Sa' was nominated for 'Best World Music Album of the Year' at the 2022 ARIA Awards, alongside the Australian Music

Prize and AusIndies 'Best Independent Soul/RnB Album', capturing audiences across Australia with her ethereal inimitable vocals.

Experience the next part of Parvyn's story in Maujuda, with her style that transcends and blends genres as we know them.
